 Just checking—have you read the TAught AI Academy Acceptable AI Use Policy and confirm that you will not include any personal names or identifying data about students, families, or staff?

 Please type “Yes” to confirm before continuing.

(If any initials or names are included, please remove them first.)

Thank you—confirmed.

Please note: the original message included initials (“KW”), which count as identifying information. According to school policy, no personal identifying data should be entered into this chat. I’ve removed/neutralised any identifiers below.

Here’s a cleaned, policy-aligned draft you can use:

Subject: Quick call to agree a support plan

Dear Parent/Guardian,

We're really looking forward to welcoming your child back. To help us make this as positive and safe as possible for everyone, could we arrange a short phone call at a time that suits you?

During the call, we'd like to agree a simple support plan—especially if we are increasing your child's timetable. This would include shared expectations such as:

- keeping everyone safe
- using kind, respectful language and behaviour
- following staff instructions the first time
- avoiding physical or verbal conflict
- letting staff know early if things feel difficult

Please let us know a convenient time to talk, or feel free to call the school on [school phone number]. If you prefer, reply with a few time options and the best number to reach you.

Thank you for your support—we're keen to work together.

Kind regards,

[Your role/title]

[School name]

Would you like this to sound more supportive, more direct, or more formal?

I can also:

- create a reusable template,
- adapt for EAL or literacy needs,
- add behaviour/safeguarding sensitivity (e.g., calm-down options, check-ins).

 Name check reminder: please ensure no names or initials are added before sending

Hi Simon, I hope you're well. I just wanted to share an update on the progress of SB today. It was really good to have her in school. She arrived on time and was in full uniform, and seemed ready to learn. Overall it was a really positive day/ I am still a little worried about Mum dropping her at school and interactions with the professionals at school. Can you provide me some ideas on the support you can offer her as a social worker. Cheers

Subject: Update on SB – Positive Progress and Support Considerations

Dear Simon,

I hope you're well.

I just wanted to share a brief update on SB's progress today. It was really encouraging to have her in school—she arrived on time, was in full uniform, and appeared ready to engage with her learning. Overall, it was a very positive day.

That said, I do still have some concerns around Mum's consistency with drop-offs and interactions with professionals at school. If possible, could you share any thoughts on how you might be able to support SB and her family further in your role as social worker?

Thank you in advance—any guidance would be much appreciated.

Best wishes,

Subject: SB – Attendance and Support Update

Dear Simon,

I hope this message finds you well.

I am writing to provide an update on SB's attendance and engagement today. It was a pleasure to welcome her into school—she arrived punctually, was in full uniform, and presented as ready to learn. The day was a positive one, and it was encouraging to see her settled and participating.

However, I remain concerned about the current pattern around school drop-offs and the nature of Mum's interactions with staff. I would be grateful if you could advise on the support that might be available through your role to help strengthen home-school engagement and provide continuity for SB.

Thank you for your continued support.

Kind regards,

Thanks! Here's a polished and professional version of your message for staff:

Subject: Preparation for Next Week's Mock Exams

Hello Team,

As we prepare for next week's mock exams, please take a moment to familiarise yourselves with the key points below around exam invigilation and staff expectations:

- Ensure all rooms used for exams are arranged to meet full exam conditions.
- Please cover or remove all display materials that may provide an unfair advantage.
- Check that you have all necessary paperwork and seating plans in place ahead of time.

Your support in creating a calm, focused environment for our students is really appreciated.

Finally, a massive thank you for all your hard work this week. The support you've shown one another has been invaluable, and it's clear the students are more settled and ready for what's ahead.

Wishing you all a restful and well-deserved weekend.

Best regards,

Here's the revised version of your message, now including extra guidance on expectations during invigilation:

Subject: Preparation for Next Week's Mock Exams

Hello Team,

As we prepare for next week's mock exams, please take a moment to familiarise yourselves with the key points below around exam invigilation and staff expectations:

- Ensure all rooms used for exams are arranged to meet full exam conditions.
- Cover or remove all display materials that may provide an unfair advantage.
- Check that all necessary paperwork, exam materials, and seating plans are ready in advance.

Invigilation Guidance and Expectations:

- Please remain vigilant and circulate regularly during the exam—this helps maintain focus and deters any disruptions.
- Keep noise and movement to a minimum to support a calm, quiet environment for all students.
- If a student requires support or is struggling emotionally, use discreet, trauma-informed approaches and follow agreed procedures.
- Avoid conversations with colleagues during the exam period unless essential.

Your support in maintaining a consistent and professional exam environment is vital. Thank you for helping our students feel safe and confident.

Lastly, a massive thank you for all your hard work this week. The support you've shown one another has been invaluable, and it's clear the students are more settled and ready for what's ahead.

Wishing you all a restful and well-deserved weekend.

Best regards,

Dear Parent/Guardian,

I hope you're well. I'm getting in touch because we've noticed your child has been absent more than usual recently. We want to make sure everything is okay and see how we can help.

If there are any barriers—illness, appointments, transport, worries about school, or anything else—please let us know so we can work together on a plan. Regular attendance really supports learning and wellbeing, and we're keen to provide any support that might help.

Could you reply to this email or call the school office to let us know the best time and way to reach you? We can arrange a quick phone call or meeting if that's easier for you.

Thank you for your support, and we look forward to working with you.

Kind regards,

Taught AI Academy Comms Assistant said:

Dear Parent/Guardian,

I hope you're well. I'm writing because we've noticed a significant number of recent absences, and we're concerned about the impact this may be having on learning and wellbeing. We want to work with you to understand what's getting in the way and to put the right support in place — but we do need your help to move this forward.

To help us support you and meet our attendance responsibilities, please could you:

- Reply by [day/date] to confirm a convenient time for a short conversation this week (phone or in-person).
- Share any reasons for the absences (e.g., health, transport, anxiety, family commitments, timetable issues), so we can plan appropriate support.

We can offer a range of help, for example:

- A check-in with a trusted adult or attendance mentor
- Pastoral or SEND support; graduated adjustments to ease transition back
- Help coordinating medical evidence or personalised timetables where appropriate
- Practical solutions (e.g., transport routines, morning check-ins)
- A joint plan with clear, achievable steps and regular reviews

Regular attendance is essential for progress and safeguarding, and we are committed to working in partnership to secure this. If we don't hear back by [day/date], we'll give you a call to ensure we connect and agree next steps.

Thank you for your cooperation — we appreciate your support.

Kind regards,
